Coordinating efforts in the field of organic and large area electronics

Why PolyMAP?

Streamlining activities in the European organic and large area electronics scene

- EU is well-positioned in organic and large area printed electronics (OLAE)
 - ✓ Leading device makers (SME's and large enterprises)
 - ✓ Material and equipment suppliers
 - ✓ Research institutes
- However: strong competition from Asia and USA
- Keep technology leadership in EU and turn this into market and production leadership

National funding in organic electronics

- Scattered activities at national level, but EU in total: 400 ME

Cooperation and coordination is vital for competitiveness of European R&D

PolyMAP – Part of the “Quadriga”

- Quadriga is a line-up of four FP7 programs
 - ✓ PolyMAP (<http://www.polymap.eu/>)
 - ✓ PolyNET
 - ✓ Prodi
 - ✓ Opera

PolyMAP consortium partners

Main achievements

- National funding bodies from UK, NL, GE, AT (and probably later also FI and FR) are investigating the possibilities to coordinate their national OLAE activities on an European level (e.g. via ERA-NET+)
- Open source database for roadmapping and state-of-the art in the field of OLAE: <http://www.polymap.eu/boomia/index.php>
- 56 support letters signed by the main stakeholders from industry, research institutes and universities

Please support our efforts to strengthen the position of Europe as the leading force in Organic Electronics worldwide!!!
